|  A silver-colored metal carabiner, likely made of aluminum or steel, shown in a three-quarter view. It has a D-shaped body with a locking gate on the left side. The word "AUSTRIALPIN" is engraved on the upper part of the body, and "TIROL" is visible on the lower part. The carabiner is centered within a large white rectangular frame. |                             |
